CZARINA'S PLIGHT.

Wife of the Russian Ruler Stricken With Smallpox.

Vienna, Feb. 26 .- Within a few weeks of the date on which, according to official announcement, the czarina is about once again to become a mother, she has been stricken with smallpox, and, al-though the most strenuous efforts have been made at St. Petersburg to conceal the fact, measles being given out as the cause of her seclusion, yet the true nature of her makedy is the subject of conversation in all the court circles, news having been received here thereof by letter, as, of course, the censor would not permit any information of this kind to leave the Russian capital by wire.

The announcement is not altogether nexpected. Indeed, it has been anticipated for ten days past. It seems that about a fortnight ago Count Muraviest, the Muscovite minister of foreign af-fairs, gave a magnificent concert and supper in honor of the exar and exarina, all the other members of the imperial family who happened to be in St.

Petersburg being present.

The count complained of feeling ill on the night of the entertainment, his looks corroborating his words, and he was forced to take his bed on the following

Other Political News of Interest in Kansas.

Ex-Congressman William Baker of the Sixth district has announced his candidacy for the nomination for governor on the Populist ticket, in opposition to Governor Leedy.

This action on the part of Mr. Baker comes as a clap of thunder from a clear sky. It is from an unexpected quarter. The Populists of Lincoln ounty received no recognition in the way of patronage. This one fact seems largely responsible for the candidacy of His Speech at Kansas City Made Last Evening.

J. W. Gleed, of Topeka, lectured last night before the Young Men's Christian Association at Kansas City on "The Sa-loon Problem." He took the position that the only way to solve the saloon problem is to exterminate the saloon. Among other things he said: "The liquor business means trouble, whether you have free whisky, low or whether you have free whisky, low or high license, local option, government ownership or prohibition. There has been more trouble in New York over the Raines law than there ever was in Kansas over the prohibitory law; it has been more bitterly denounced. The liquor traffic means trouble in any event, but it means on the whole less trouble when you have it down than when it has you down.

when you have it down than when it has you down.

"We may as well recognize first as last that we are fighting an enemy as old as man, and perhaps destined to live as long as man lives. We are also fighting an enemy which is the very embodiment of lawlessness—inherently and in its very nature lawless. In the whole course of history the liquor business never did voluntarily render obedience to law. Law-abiding saloon-keepers all die before they get into the business. It makes no difference what the law or what the restriction, you can rest assured it will not voluntarily be obeyed.

"They have moonshiners in the south; bey have joints and bootleggers in hiladelphia and New York. They have he same old fight in Sioux City under igh license that they had under problition with the same array of forces a either side.

"However it be treated, the ginmill is a sore. Whatever the law, the grog-shop breeds lawlessness. However mild the regulations prescribed for the mild the regulations prescribed for the saloonkeeper, his natural disposition is to destroy them. The liquor traffic holds no law, no custom, sacred; it submits willingly to no restriction, however reasonable; it is essentially anarchistic. Nowhere in this country is any law on the subject of liquor selling strictly obeyed. Sales are made; they are made to children; they are made to habitual drunkards; they are made after midnight and on Sundays; moonshiners abound, and liquors are adulterated. There never can be peace be-shiners abound, and liquors are adulterated. There never can be peace between decent people and the saloon.

"The only solution of the saloon problem is no saloon. Complete prohibition should be the ultimate aim. If you can't get prohibition take local option. But local option always means continual warfare. The whisky question is always unsettled. A community goes dry this year and wet the next, and then dry. An act which is criminal this year is innocent next. A certain sort of trade is diverted from the dry community to diverted from the dry community to the wet. This creates an apparent loss, Local option creates perpetual friction, change and upheaval. It is much hard-change and upheaval. It is much harder to keep enforced than general constitutional prohibition.

"If you can't get prohibition or local option take high license, with as much restriction as possible. But high license laws will be disobeyed. High license is much lauded because of a certain public income it yields.

"Out in Kansas they are trying to tell us that what we need to bring heek

CALLING IN LOANS. American Houses Are Causing Europe to Pay Up.

New York, Feb. 26.—There was a sharp recovery in the prices of stocks yesterday in which the engagement of gold for import was the predominant influence.

The course of the exchange market the previous day foreshadowed theearly importation of gold, which is the direct outcome of the stiffening in the rates for call money. The amount of sterling exchange held in New York is variously estimated at $40,000,000 and upwards. A large part of it has been used as collateral for loans, and the large liquidation of loans has released a quantity of that exchange and brought it upon the market of that exchange and brought it upon the market.

In other words, the rise in money rates makes it more profitable to bring home funds which have been left abroad on account of the higher rate hitherto prevailing there. The import movement of gold is likely to continue unless there should be a sharp advance in the money market in London and Paris. The calling in of this country's gold credits abroad is likely to put a stop for the present to foreign buying of our securities, which has been large of late. Kuhne, Loeb & Co. have announced that they will import $250,000 in gold, to be shipped today.

This makes the total engagements made for shipment today or next week both from Paris and London, $2,200,000. Muller, Schall & Co. also have 3,000,000 francs in gold on the way to them, but this in transit and will not remain in this country.

Robbed the Grave.

Robbed the Grave.

A startling incident of which Mr.John Oliver of Philadelphia, was the subject, is narrated by him as follows: "I war in a most dreadful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetitie—gradually growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Fortunately, a friend advised trying 'Electric Bitters,' and to my great joy and surprise, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they saved my life, and robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fall to try them. Only 50 cents per bottle at Swift & Holliday drug store.
